THE SUM OF $350,000 APPROPRIATED. THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE TAKES MEASURES TO CARRY OUT THE ACT PASSED BY THE LEGIS-

CARRY OUT THE ACT PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE.

It was announced in The Tribune on June 17 that Governor Cleveland had signed the bill passed by the Legislature authorizing an appropriation of $350,000 for enlarging the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in order to give sufficient room to exhibit the constantly growing collections. The act provided that plans should be drawn and approved by the trustees of the Museum and the Park Commission, and that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment should then, if it thought proper, appropriate the amount needed and direct the Controller to issue bonds bearing interest of not more than 3 per cent.

At its meeting yesterday the Board of Estimate took final action on the matter and directed the Controller to carry out the provisions of the act. When the subject was brought up Mr. Kirk incuired: "What do these people propose to do?" Mayor Edson called upon Theodore Weston to explain the subject. The addition to the present building will have an area on its three floors of 53,000 square feet and each one of the two proposed wings will be 113 feet in length by 64 feet in width. The fronts of the wings will be connected by a façade, which with them will form a court in the secure of the buildings, where will be placed the steam engines and boilers used for hoisting the elevators and heating the buildings. The annoyance which the trustees have experienced in the lack of storage room for the accommodation of loan exhibition cases will be obviated by the use of this court. The two wings and the façade will be built to the south of the present building and wil complete the edifice in that direction according to the wishes of the Park Commissioners. The architecture will be a modification of the character of the original structure, and columns will be added as supports to the windows, and an attempt will be made to have the exterior of the building tell something of the nature of its contents. The roofs of the wings will not be as high by several feet as that of the central structure, and med in building the additions will be brick, granite and iron, and when completed the entire edifice will be fire proof.

Mr. Weston said in nrging the appropriation that in a single day the museum had 19,000 visitors and in 1883 no less than 1,100,000 persons had seen the collections. He thought that this was the most favorable time of the year in which to begin work, as business was depressed and contracts could be made at advantageous terms. He had estimated that the cost of the wings and façade would amount to about $315,700 and that the furnishing of the library and the refreshment rooms would cost about $29,000 more.

The Mayor inquired what security could be given to the Board that the cost of the building would not exceed the appropriation asked for and then inquired the manes of the Board of Trustees. The names were mentioned, and then he said that he thought that if the cost did exceed $350,000 the trustees were quite able to make up the deficiency. Mr. Weston remarked that the old building had cost $498,000 under the act of 1871, but that at that time labor was at its highest price and Mr. Tweed had more to do with it than was advisable for the security of the city's freasury. The Willard bequest of $84,000 for the foundation of a Department of Architecture would make necessary the appertionment of a large area of the museum.

Mr. Kirk asked some questions in relation to the plans, etc., and being answered satisfactorily on each point said that far from being opposed to grant a larger one of necessary for the crection of a building which should be in accord in every sepect with the beautiful surroundings of Central Park. The vote was taken and the appropriation was granted unanimously.

The working plans will be completed as soon as possible and the excavations for the foundations will be begun almost immediately.

A FARM FOR THE INSANE ON LONG ISLAND. THOUSAND ACRES NEAR DEER PARK TO BE PUR-CHASED FOR $25,000.

CHASED FOR $25,000.

For several months the Commissioners of Charities and Correction have been seeking on Long Island for a farm for insane patients, for the purchase of which $25,000 was set aside by the Board of Estimate last December. They at last found a suitable tract of land, comprising 1,067.4-10 acres between Farmingdaie and Deer Park, about 30 miles from this city. Commissioner Porter appeared before the Board yesterday and urged the purchase. Mr. Asten said that while the tract was unquestionably suitable he thought that the price $25,000 was out of all proportion to the value. He had had an ofter of 500 acres 70 miles from Long-Island City at $8 an acre and 200 acres at Southampton, within a half-mile of the bay, for $6 an acre, almost immediately adjoining some property on which Mrs. Vanderbilt has established a house for charitable purposes. Mr. Asten continued:

1 have had a talk with Mr. Corbin and he said that he would transport passengers and freight to either place at

I have had a talk with Mr. Corbin and he said that he would transportpassengers and freight to either place at rates little in excess of weath would cost the Department to reach by their boat. I do not think it necessary to buy 1,000 acres of land, for the scheme is only an experiment and it may prove to be an extremely cost ly one.
The $25,000, as I understand it, was not to buy land only, but also to build house for the patients. It is evident that if this land is bought another appropriation will have to follow speedily for building purposes.

Both Mr. Perter and Mr. Kirk thought that the farms which Mr. Asten thought suitable would be too small and too far from the city. Mr. Asten again explained the advantages of being near the sea. Mr. Porfer said with some show of impatience;
I thought that we had all acreed on this thing; but every meeting we have we get further apart.
Mr. Asten—My opinion is that the commissioners could go further and buy cheaper. The land is held at a nigh price because the owner knows that the city desires to purchase it. Withis four or tive miles of Farmingdale land can be got for $11 an acre.
Mr. Porter—We shall abaulon the matter altogether if we find that this opposition is persistently kept up. I should be sorry to tell Mrs. Lowell, who is the prime mover of this experiment, that we bought a farm of less than L000 acros.

Controller Grant—I think that the difference in the price

Mr. Asten - I have said all that I desire to say in regard to this matter. I wish to prevent a lot of schemers from swindling the city because they know it wants the lawd.

Mr. Forter (energetically) - I don't know what you mean by schemers, Mr. Asten. Mr. Merritt, the owner, is over eighty years old, and is absolutely respectable.

Mr. Asten (shrugging his shoulders) - Why, the price of the land tells the story. So you don't want a smaller farm, Mr. Forter (wearly) - We have put ourselves upon record as wishing I,000 acres of land for our purposes, and we want no less.

ord as wishing 1.000 acres of land for our purposes, and we want no less.

Mr. Asten (meditatively)—They are charging too high a price for the land. They are a famy lot of fellows down on Long Island.

Mayor Edson (smiling beniguantly on the bellige rents)—Yes, Mr. Asten, from what we know of the president of the Tax Department and the president of the Board of Aldermen we should think so.

Good humor seemed to come into the meeting with the Mayor's mild joke, and when a vote was taken it was ananimously resolved to buy the farm so dear to Mr. Porter's heart. The commissioner shook hands all around.

so dear to Mr. Porter's heart. The commissioner shook hands all around.

The Commissioners of Accounts asked for $15,000 to pay a deliciency in their salaries and those of their employes. There was decided opposition from Mr. Asten, on the ground that the commissioners failed to make a detailed statement of their needs, as is required from heads of departments in such cases. He said that he had seen the department begun without any clerical help, and now it demanded a flictent money to pay fifteen accountants. He thought that there should be some limit clearly specified at which the commissioners should cease their demands. The appropriation was granted. Mr. Asten only voting in the pegative.

The Board distributed $37,751 01 of excise moneys among the charitable institutions.

VERNAY DIES IN THE HOSPITAL.

RESULT OF A QUARREL ON STATEN ISLAND.

EXPLAINING THE WOUNDED CONDITION OF THE YOUNG MAN FOUND IN MOUNT MORRIS PARK.

Joseph Vernay, the young Staten Islander who was found suffering from a wound in the back of the head at One-hundred-and-nineteenth-st. and Fifth-ave., on Thursday night, and was taken to the Ninety-ninth Street Hospital, died yesterday at 6 a. m. The hospital authorities sent word to New-Dorp, the home of the dead man, and his father, accompanied by Mr. Ostrander, a contractor for whom young Vernay worked, arrived at the hospital, and after the coroner had held an autopsy the body was removed to Staten Island. Vernay was a laborer, twenty-two years old, and had the reputation of being a sober, industrious man. On Thursday he and a friend, Delmar, also a laborer went to a picnic near New-Dorp. While there they met some friends who lived in the upper part of this city and were invited to return home with them. Vernay went to his home and informed his father that he was going to New-York and possibly would not return before morning. He and Delmar then went to the depot, and while waiting for the train to start went into Hooper's blacksmith shop, where many of the youth of New Dorn meet. Several friends were there among them being a farm laborer known as Valentine, a middle-aged man having the reputation of being sullen and morose and a dangerons man when aroused. A controversy arose between Vernay and Valentine which resulted in blows. Valentine picked up a heavy broom, such as is used in livery stables, and felled Vernay to the ground with a blow on the back of the head, and he in turn was knecked down by Delmar. Friends interfered and the fight was stopped.

Vernay's wound was washed, the flow of bloed checked and bandages applied. He appeared to have fully recovered and started with Delmar for New-York. They left the elevated railroad at One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st. and Third-ave., to go to their friend's house. When they reached the lower end of Mount Morris Park the wound began to bleed afresh and at One-hundred-and-nine teen the EXPLAINING THE WOUNDED CONDITION OF THE YOUNG MAN FOUND IN MOUNT MORRIS PARK.

HASTY SALE OF PLEDGED STOCK. AN EXPLANATION OF THE DECLINE IN THE NORTH-

AN EXPLANATION OF THE DECLINE IN THE NORTHEEN PACIFICS.

An explanation of the recent decline in the Northern Pacific stocks was disclosed vesterday. Last week the Oregon and Transcontinental Company made a sterling loan of 250,000 on the pledge of Northern Pacific preferred stock, from Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The banking house called for additional margin early on Thursday, although the loan was taken originally on a 25 per cent margin and the new margin was promptly supplied by the Oregon and Transcontinental Company. Shortly afterward a second call on the company was made and in response to it the president of the company visited the office of Kuhn. Loeb & Co., and promised to furnish the fresh margin as soon as he returned to his office. When the clerk whom he sent on the errand reached the banking house he was told that orders to sell the collaieral security of the loan had been sent to the Stock Exchange. The additional margin was declined on this account. It is understood that the matter was placed at once in the hands of Holmes and Adams, counsel to the Oregon and Transcontinental Company, who gave notice to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. that the identical stock pledged by the company would have to be returned on the maturity of the loan.

The action of the bankers was criticised sharply
by the friends of the company, and it is probable that the matter will be brought before the Ar utration Committee of the Stock Exchange. The conditions of the loan permitted the sale of the collateral securities and the promise to immish new margins was fulfilled, friends of the company, and it is probable

ESCAPE AND REARREST OF A PRISONER.

Devlin and Christie were arrested on Wednesday, charged with stealing money from the drawer of Mickle, a grocer of Eleventh-ave. There were four men engaged in the robbery. The prisoners were committed to the Jefferson Market Prison, preparatory to their removal to the Tombs. Yesterday about 11:30 a. m. a mild-eyed smooth-faced youth with gray hair went to the prison, bearing a pass from the Commissioners of Charities and Correction, to see Devlin. He was allowed to go to Devlin's cell and entered into conversation with him. About half an hour later, a man approached keeper O'Brien, and exhibiting his ticket was about to pass out of the door, which was partly open, when O'Brien recognized the features of Devlin. He tried to close the door but Devlin ran out through the corridor into West Tenth-st. At that hour the court had adjourned and the inmates of the jail were at dinner. There were few people in the street, but little "Tom" Gavellin, one of the court-house officers, saw the running man and started in pursuit closely followed by O'Brien. Devlin ran through Tenth-st. to Sixth-ave, and turned into Ninth-st., where he was headed off by a passer-by and caught by O'Brien and Gavellin. He was taken back to the jail and safely locked up. The man who had brought the ticket to see Devlin was then arrested and taken before Justice White for examination. Detectives Vallely and McConnell saw him in court and recognized him as Patrick Donohue, one of the men for whom they were looking on the charge of assisting in the robbery of the money drawer. Donohue was committed by Justice White in default of $500 bail. The detectives were in court with Thomas Collins, a boy of sixteen years, whom they had arrested for having in his possession a clock which had be en stolen from Mrs. Eva Clough of No. 420 West Thirty-fifth-st., on June 24. Collins is supposed to be the fourth man implicated in the robbery for Mickle. He was held by Justice White in $5,000 bair. ESCAPE AND REARREST OF A PRISONER.

THIEVES PLAYING A NEW TRICK.

A daring robbery was perpetrated on John J.
Sperry, a coal dealer doing, business at No. 2,312
Fourth-ave., yesterday afternoon. Mr. Sperry's bookkeeper was alone in the office when two men come in and represented themselves as Inspectors from the Bureau of Incumbrances. They informed the bookkeeper that the beams supporting the fence around the coniyard were set too far out on the sidewalk and would have to be removed at once. At their request, the bookkeeper acompanied them outside to see what changes would have to be made.
While the office was left empty, two men(supposed to be accomplices of the alleged inspectors went through the yard into the office and rifled the cash drawer of upward of $100 and were thusly engaged in investigating the safe when they were discovered by a driver. The driver endeavored to step them, but one of them "drew a revolver and frightened him off and the men succeeded in making their escape. The police were informed of the robbery and are working up the case.

While the near possibility of a water famine is removed, the officials of the Department of Public Works wish it understood, however, that there is no warrant for waste and that the present pressure cannot be increased.

OPPOSITE VIEWS OF A LOCK-OUT.

The master plumbers deny the statements made by the journeymen that the lock-out is practically ended. They published the list yesterday of 169 houses who had pledged themselves to lock out their employes until the committee gave the word to take them back, and they assert that nearly every man who has signed the pledge has kept it. Nearly 1,000 men are out of employment through the lock-out, and so far from having given up the fight the bosses feel confident and are as determined to hold out as they were on Monday. The journeymen the other hand laugh at the publication of the list. President Coyle of the Journeymen's Union said that a careful canvass of it will show that over half of the men who have signed the list do not employ any men at this time of the year and that half of the remainder employ only one or two. Further, he said, a number of the men whose mames appear in the list and who do employ journeymen have not locked out; new men are constantly being put to work and there are now less than 250 out altogether.

The journeymen had numerous pickets out looking after non-union men who have slipped in. The union also secured the job of doing the plumbing work on some new houses in Hariem.

A number of trades unions in the city have sent messages of sympathy to the plumbers in their fight and have extended offers of financial aid should it become necessary.

RIOTOUS STRIKERS IN NEW-JERSEY.

RIOTOUS STRIKERS IN NEW-JERSEY.

The striking spinners of the Mile End Thread Works at Harrison, N. J., indulged in rioting and violence Thursday night and yesterday. They are Englishmen who were brought to this country by one of the superintendents of the factory. There has been trouble with them on several occasions, the complaint being that their wages were not as high as had been promised them in England. The reason for the present revolt was trivial. The men conceived a dislike to Foreman Richard Cook because, as they say, he was opposed to their trade union, Recently the foreman discharged Garrity, a spinner, A meeting of the spinners was called, and eighteen spinners went out, making their return to work conditional upon the re-exployment of Garrity. This wa refused, and the strikers proceeded to annoy the men at work. On Thursday night the strikers and their sympathizers gathered near the factory, and Henry Hooley, one of the employes against whom they felt bitter, was pelted with rotten eggs as soon as he left the factory yard. Threats were made against Mr. Cook and others, but they escaped by a side door from the factory. Later in the evening Leverick, a spinner who had formerly run the elevator and who had remained at work, was assaulted upon the street. Several men picked him up boaily and carried him some distance and then tossed him in the air. Some of the strikers proposed to throw him into the river. He promised that he would not return to work and was released. Yesterday the strikers again assembled near the factory gates and endeavored to persuade the working spinners to strike. Among those accosted was Hugh Dixon who fearing for his safety drew a pistol to intimidate his aggressors when a rush was made for him. He ran in the gate and fired several shots one of wheh strack Robert Parkenson in the right hand making a painful wound. The shooting excited the strikers greatly and a serious root was only prevented by the influence of some of the leaders. Dixon was arrested for the shooting, and las

Among other things she said that he refused to give her money for the support of herself and five children and that she was afraid of him. Crudden was arrested, and sud that in the fourteen years of his married life he had never given his wife less than $50 a month, and he frequently gave her double that amount. He attributed his wife's action to the fact that after he had given her $95 out of $100 she wanted the other $5. Judge Lawrence asked the woman if that were true and she admitted that it was.

MR. SELIGMAN NOT IN WINCHESTER.

I Published dispatches from Winchester, Va., stated yesterday that Edwin R. A. Seligman had visited that place recently in company with Mrs. Virginia Brattan and that he appeared as her next friend in a suit be gan there for a divorce from her husband, George James Brattan. The identity of the couple was said to have been concealed until the publication of a legal notice in a local newspaper. The Mr. Seligman mentioned in the dispatches is a son of the late Joseph Seligman and a lawyer in this city. Issue N. Seligman, of J. & W. Seligman man & Co., who is an elder brother, said yesterday:

"The dispatch is an outrage. My brother has been recently graduated from the Law School of Columbia College, and has now entered on the practice of his profession. He has not been at Winchester, and in that respect the dispatches are utterly faise. Mrs. Brattan is a friend of the family, and desiring a divorce from her husband, she sought the advice of my brother, who gave her letters to some lawyers at Winchester. I suppose that they must have thought it a great suit, and for their own glory sought to make it public. I can account for the dispatches in no other way, for there is nothing in the proceeding to attract attention. My brother certainly has not been in Winchester, and the suit for a divorce is entirely regular. There is no reason why the circumstances attending it should have been made a matter of notoriety."

Judge City Court, in behalf of a boy seven years old. Judge Hyatt, yesterday, in Chambers, appointed Aifred E. J. Tobey guardian of his young son, David W. Tobey, to enable an action for $5,000 to be brought. Mr. Tobey was a guest at a hotel in West Hampton in August, 1883. Professor Boyeson was staying at the same house. Mr. Tobey charges that the novelist, in a moment of anger over some act on his son's part, struck the child severely over the head, face and ears, infleting injuries which permenently impaired David's hearing.

A PEN PICTURE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS DELEGATES.

DELEGATES.

Prom Every Other Saturday, Roston.

At the recent National Republican Convention the delegates from Massachusetts adopted the same method which resulted so disastrously at the previous one when John Sherman was siaughtered in the house of his friends, and have secured for the Commonwealth a reputation which is likely to be permanent. Outside barbardans do not hesitate to say that our delegates went to Chicago to make a bargain; that they were "up for Coves and a market"; that "Truck and Dicker" was inscribed on their banner long before the convention met; that they ostensibly held out for a candidate of whose nomination they had no expectation and whom they were willing to exchange at any moment. It was quite obvious weeks ago, they insist, that the contest was between President Arthur and Mr. Blaine. As between these two there was no doubt that a large majority of our delegates were in favor of the former. They intended at the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to throw their votes where they would do the proper time to the old Commonwealth no longer leads.
